SCHEDULE 'B'

The reason for the designation is to recognize the architectural value of the building in context of its contribution to the heritage character of the Town of Grimsby. The building demonstrates excellent examples of the Italianate elements in its architectural design. Many of its original elements are still intact.

Eugene and Catharine Udell built the house in 1888. Eugene was the son of Morris and Harriet Udell who, as United Empire Loyalists immigrated to Canada from the United States in the early 1800's. Eugene built this house for his son George and his new wife Annie. They lived in the house and ran a successful nursery stock and fruit farming operation as well as raising horses and cattle. Although the farmland was sold off in 1945, the house remained in the Udell family until 1979.

These architectural and historic features contribute to the culture and heritage of the Town of Grimsby.
